A Poetry Reading for PEACE & JUSTICE
in a Time of War & Discrimination

A talented and diverse group of poets—MARTÍN ESPADA, ADRIE KUSSEROW, BUNKONG TUON, AFAA MICHAEL WEAVER, AND TERESA MEI CHUC—read from their work on this theme. United by a common interest in promoting peace and justice, these poets write about the struggles of the world's outcasts, immigrants, and working classes—those mistreated and forgotten as empires clash and wage relentless war. Their work will be included in the forthcoming anthology, With Our Eyes Wide Open: Poems of the New American Century, edited by Douglas Valentine.

Presented by the English Department, with support from the Lecture Committee, the American Studies Program, the Five College Asian/Pacific/American Studies Program, and the Five College International Relations Program
